HE CLAIMS THEY ARE A CURE FOR THE "TOBACCO HABIT."

Seven Middle-Aged Women Thought of Becoming His Agents and Relieving Suffering Mankind.

Detectives Kinney and Morgan yesterday arrested P. B. Byrnes, who said his home was in Anderson, on the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. According to the story told by the detectives apolis papers for agents to handle his "new ure for the tobacco habit." It is alleged that he made a number of dark brown tablets, which smelled strongly of cinnamon and sold them in small packages for $3 a box. He roomed at 124 East New York street where he also conducted an office. His plan, the detectives say, was to make the pellets, which are said to contain no curative properties, and sell them to agents. He inserted "ads." in the papers and seven middle-aged women called at the place to receive positions. His plan was to secure on dollar from the women for each box of the pellets they sold. They were to sell the stuff for $3 a package. An old woman giving the name of Sarah Booher, living at 15 South Pine street, called at the police station yesterday afternoon. She said she was one of the agents, although she had not sold any of the stuff. After Byrnes's arrest his room was searched and a large tin can filled with pellets was found. In the room were two small paper boxes, one filled with wooden boxes containing the medicine and the other with new hairpins. It was learned by the going to the department stores and purchasing dozens of boxes of hairpins. The pellets he referred the purchaser to "London Ladies' League.

The large can which contained several thousand of the pellets, bore the label of a Detroit chemical works. It also bore a prescription number. Captain Gerber wrote to the firm yesterday to determine if the number on the box had any reference to Byrnes said he had been a druggist in Elwood and Anderson for a number of years and can easily acquit himself in court. He said that the pellets that he offered for sale are a sure cure for the tobacco habit. He was allowed to go on a

Her Coughing Caused a Burglar to Make a Hasty Exit.

Dr. Harold, of 1701 College avenue, had an experience with a burglar yesterday morning and the whole neighborhood was aroused. Miss Laura Hall was awakened about 3 o'clock by the sight of a man crawlwent to Louisville, Ky., to accept the asso- ing over her floor. He had a revolver in his hand. She did not scream, but coughed several times in the hope of awakening Dr. Harold. She was successful and Dr. Harold awakened his nephew who has a revolver. By the time the family was fully aroused the burglar was ready to make his escape. As he jumped through the front window Dr. Harold's nephew fired his revolver. The burglar ran north on College avenue. Turnkey Al Mathey was on a street car passing the Harold residence at the time of the shooting. Each time the revolver was fired, he heard some one grunt. In company with Bicycle Policemen Hull and Griffin, he made a search of the alleys in the neighborhood, but could find no injured person.

> Several other robberies occurred yesterday morning on the South Side. A thief entered the house of James J. Beecher, 1118 East Tenth street and got a gold watch. The house of George R. Coulter, 316 East South street, was entered and a dlamond stud valued at $130 was taken with $9 in MONEY COMES FROM THE VARIOUS MINING DISTRICTS.

Secretary Wilson Says Commissary Stores May Be Established-From the Anthracite Field.

One very important point about the proposed impeachment proceedings on the part of the mine workers against Judge Jackson, of West Virginia, is the question of colonel Maynard was a Baptist, but in equity. "This phase of the injunction seems to have generally been overlooked," said S. M. Sexton, editor of the United was a member of the Grand Army, having | Mine Workers' Journal, yesterday, "yet held the title of colonel of the Indiana it is conclusive evidence that the case had no standing in court. Those who seek equity must do equitable things. Those coal companies have violated the mining laws of West Virginia in almost every children are Miss Grace Maynard and Mrs. respect. They refuse to recognize the check-weigh law; the two weeks' pay law; the law prescribing so many cubic feet of air to a miner, and ventilation of the shafts; the stipulated 2,240 pounds as a ton; the law against operationg company stores and other violations so numerous that I cannot readily call all to mind. A coal company, guilty of inequity, was permitted to come into a court of chancery to secure equitable proof inviolating persons against whom their lawless conduct has been directed.

"I remember a case that is identical with this one, but which was thrown out of court when the issues were presented. The Moreton-Jonas Company, of Minentola, New Jersey, appealed to Chancellor Woodbrige of the Supreme Court of New Jersey, for an injunction against Dennis F. Haves to the family, and a copy hereof presented | and other members of the American Flint from interfering in any way with its workmen, coming near the company's grounds, and doing certain other things. The judge granted a preliminary injunction, but when the case came up for final hearing it was the Moreton-Jonas Company was violating the child-labor law of New Jersey, the two weeks' pay law and the company store act. The judge said a plaintiff in a case in equity 'must come into court with clean

> AN ILLUSTRATION. "Let me illustrate how the act of Judge Jackson would appear in other matters. they have any standing in court? They certinly would not; but such is the situation in West Virginia-the coal companies, guilty of violating the laws of the State are now seeking equity in the federal Secretary Wilson said yesterday there was a mistake about why the mine workers are proceeding against Judge Jaskson. He said it was not because he issued an injunction against the mine workers, but because certain phases of the case do not appear to be legal. Mr. Wilson says the evidence was all in and the arguments made, but in rendering his decision, Judge Jackson included matters which were not produced in evidence and which he had ruled out of court. The part of his decision upon which these charges are based read: "It is in evidence that after Haggerty was released upon his recognizance, one of the conditions of which was that he should not violate, incite, aid, encourage or abet the violations of the injunction of the court granted in this case, directly or indirectly, either in spirit or in letter, he presided at a public meeting in which the action of this court was criticised and denounced for granting this injunction, at which time it is alleged that the principal speaker up on that occasion stated that the judge should be impeached, while the court had their case under advisement."

SECRETARY WILSON'S VIEW. dence in itself that Judge Jackson considered Haggerty's case after it has been closed, and that he refused to allow the case to be reopened for defense or evidence, but at the same time gave the matter consideration. Another part of the decision upon which ground for impeachpins come in little wooden boxes. Byrnes | ment is based, is the allusion to the meetwould take out the pins and fill the boxes | ing held when the defendants were ar-Rice and other defendants were present at this meeting, took an active part in it, applauded the speech of Mrs. Jones, indorsed her sentiments and at the time of their arrest advised the miners to continue to strike." Mr. Wilson says the only evidence here is against Mother Jones and that the others were convicted because they "applauded" her speech and "indorsed her sentiments."

Contributions continue to come into headquarters from all sections of the mining fields. A check was received from the Alabama district for $1,000 yesterday. Secretary Wilson says the financial end of the strike is showing up nicely and that he has no doubt ample funds will be received to conduct the strike. As yet he has not sent any money to the anthracite field, since the $50,000 voted by the convention was divided among the three striking districts. The strikers are evidently holding out well. for no plans have yet been arranged for giving relief. Mr. Wilson says commissary stores may be established and purchases of supplies made from the wholesale dealers or jobbers, orders on the United Mine Workers may be recognized at retail stores or cash may be paid. He said he did not think the cash system will be established, and that the system of relief will likely be one of the first two named.

FURY OF A NEGRO.

Augustus Smith, colored, resented accusation made against him yesterday and tried to kill John Walker, a young man who was in the saloon at Pearl and Meridian streets. Smith is a porter at the saloon and in good natured badinage the turned at the time and when he turned around he saw young Walker laughing. Without saying a word Smith walked over to the lunch counter and procured a long butcher knife. He raised the knife and struck at Walker's head. The latter raised his left arm and received a gash across the elbow that severed the main cartelage. Smith was arrested by Bicycle Policemen Trimpe and Katzmiller on the charge of assault and battery. Walker's injury was attended to by Dr. Foreman, of the City Dispensary. He may lose the use of the

Captain Gerber Talked with a Man

Loaded with Bad Nickels. It was learned yesterday that Charles W. Captain Gerber, before going to Greenfield with McGuff to measure Hall by the Bertillon system, learned that While Captain Gerber was in Greenfield he saw George Tracy, under arrest for rector Klaussman for the concert to be passing counterfeit money. To the Greenfield officers Tracy was noncommunicative. When Captain Gerber talked to him Tracy admitted that he had been engaged in passing "queer" money. He said that up to a month ago he had been living on a farm near New Philadelphia. He was engaged in chopping wood with a fellow named Elliott. It was arranged between the two to manufacture counterfelt nickels. Tracy said he bought the babbit metal and made the molds. His object, he said, was to play nickel-in-the-slot machines. When arrested Tracy had in his possession 195 counterfeit nickels. Deputy United States Marshal Boyd and Secret Service Agent Halls left yesterday for Greenfield to bring Tracy to this city for trial.

Dr. J. Y. Kennedy Is Seriously Ill at Acton. Ind.

Word has been received that Dr. J. Y. Kennedy, of Hillsboro, Ind., who formerly resided in this city, is lying seriously ill at Acton, Ind. He is suffering from blood poisoning caused by a slight scratch from a razor and is said to be in a critical condition. Dr. Kennedy is well known in Indianapolis, having practiced medicine here. He is a graduate of the Indiana Medical College and also from the Rush Medical College of Chicago.

MERCHANTS' HEATING AND LIGHT-ING COMPANY TO BUILD.

First Site Selected Had to Be Abandoned-Quick Advance in Value of Property.

W. C. Bobbs, president of the Merchants' Heating and Lighting Company, left for a flying trip to New York yesterday afternoon. His visit is not on business for the company. Before leaving Mr. Bobbs confirmed the report that the first site the mpany selected for its plant was not available because the owner of the property, learning that the company expected to use a site along the Union tracks, raised his price from $12,000 to $24,000, and the company would not further consider it. The company soon found other property which it could buy without paying an exorbitant price and the abstract to it will pass to-day to the company. There is little likelihood of this deal failing. The new location has not been disclosed.

It is also learned that some of the sites investigated for the interurban stations have suddenly appreciated to twice the amount of their first valuation. This suggests that whenever a large enterprise so far that he cannot refuse the advance

An attorney, in discussing this condition yesterday, said that by reason of the rapacity of real estate owners in this city conceived the plan of combining the repair and construction shops of the five great divisions of that road in this city. It was central in the system and the most convenient distributive point. Accordingly he began to purchase property west of White river and south of Washington street. He intended to build thereon the shops and construction plant of the Big Four, which would have occupied at least 100 acres and would have given employment to from 1,000 to 2,000 men. His idea was to make the shops the largest and greatest in the world. His first purchases were reasonable. But real estate men soon discovered his intentions and property adjacent to that purchased by him doubled in value. Mr. Ingalls was incensed and refused to pay the exorbitant valuation. His purchases stopped with considerably less area than he intended to buy. He said if the property owners intended to be so rapacious he would wait until their greed abated. While waiting labor difficulties confronted him. Friction in one of his division shops brought to his mind the fact that if they were assembled at one point it would make it unusually difficult in case o strikes to attend to the repair business of the company, while if there were separate shops for each division, located in each division, this danger would be minimized. While he was debating this the town of Bellefontaine, O., offered him a handsome subsidy for shops in that town, and he went there, thus abandoning his whole scheme for this city. Another instance where rapacity drove an industry from the city was when the National Card works attempted to purchase land east of the city to erect a new factory. The company had been unable to procure a switch at its factory south of the Belt road, and wishing to make enlargements sought a new site. Land was priced east of the city. The owners became informed as to the purpose for which the land was sought and raised their prices, some three-fold. The company rejected all proposals and purchased land at Norwood, O., where it erected a plant that cost several hundred thousand dollars and employs nearly 1,000 persons.

SINGERS SCORE HITS.

Mr. Roberts and Miss Demerest at Fair Bank-Fairview's Attractions.

The opening night of the engagement of Reginald Roberts and Miss Mona Demerest at Fair Bank this week was greatly marred by the heavy dounpour of rain and the disagreeable drizzle throughout the greater part of the evening. The programme was carried out in full, however, and the small crowd that gathered at the park was enthusiastic in its reception of the two artists. Mr. Roberts possesses a clear and powerful tenor voice and the manner in which he sang popular ballads caused the small crowd to encore him many times. This is the first time he has sung here since his engagement with "The Highwaymen" at English's four years ago. In his song, "If I But Knew," which was the great hit in the opera "The Sultan of Sulu," his pleasing voice was heard to the best advantage. This song has never been sung in Indianapolis before and promises to become as popular here this week as it did in Chicago when heard in the opera and later at the Masonic Temple Roof Garden when sung by Mr. Roberts. He also sang other selections, the ballad, "I'd Love You Anyway," dedicated to him by Helena Bingham, scoring a great hit. Mr. Roberts is one of the best tenors ever heard in this city and as he will sail for Australia in a short time, to fill a three years' engagement, Indianapolis people will no doubt avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing him at Fair Bank this week A surprise is in store for those who will hear Miss Demerest at Fair Bank thi week. Coming to Indianapolis, as she did, for her first appearance in this city, practically unknown to the music lovers, she promises to become a great favorite before the week is half over. Miss Demerest is a young woman posessing a well-modulated saprano voice of great volume. Last evening she sang, "Habanara," from Carmen, a selection which afforded her great opportunity to display her wonderful operatic training. She sang as an encore, 'Love's Sorrow," by Harry R. Shelly, and also "A Song of Thanksgiving, Mr. Roberts and Miss Demerest will sing each evening this week and also on Saturday afternoon. Ostendorf's Concert Band has provided popular programmes which will be changed every night.
